

Rev. Ben Sanders, III is Assistant Professor of Theology and Ethics at Eden Theological Seminary in St. Louis, MO. He has a B.A. from Hope College (Holland, MI), a M.Div. from Union Theological Seminary (New York), and is currently finishing a dissertation at the University of Denver and Iliff School of Theology on the meaning of black identity in black theology. An ordained Baptist Minister, Professor Sanders is dedicated to following Jesus by thinking about and practicing Christian faith in ways that promote and contribute to social justice for marginalized communities. Rev. Sanders is a much sought-after teacher, speaker, and preacher who is committed to bridging the gap between the academy and the church.
