

How you put a happy face

On something when it's really very sad

Today we'll try to explain something that happened a long time ago.

Once there was an important person
Who wanted to be a king.

His name was Nicholas.
We'll call him Nick for short.

Nick did something that made him very happy.

He gave away oceans.
He gave away their houses too.

He gave away people
He gave away their countries too.

Today we call this the "Doctrine of Discovery"

Now we'll tell you more about what Nick did, and how it made others' life different.
